They have not contacted me, but it's a surprise that they ever took any action at all. I haven't asked Frank Bain (Moab BLM) how much he thinks it would cost to reclaim the site, but it would be more than $18,600-- probably more like $25,000.

In the bond pending drawer, there is an operator, Absolute Mining and Minerals, LLC who have taken zero action with the requests identified in the letter to them dated Sept 25 2006.

Have they contacted you to update their NOI or anything?

They have not contacted me about the status of the company with DOC.

They do not have a reclamation contract because I don't have record of them working with you on the bond amount.
